

Dee Montague-Coast

Why should WCVA's members vote for me to be a Trustee?

I am a leader who inspires others with a calm, positive outlook and a desire to listen and learn. I am queer and disabled; I have lived experience of many of the barriers that face marginalised people throughout society, and I am passionate about dismantling them. I am currently the sole-employee of the charity Fair Treatment for the Women of Wales, where I am honoured to work with committed volunteers and members, experts by experience who are committed to creating positive changes within the environments they navigate. Before I joined FTWW, I became a skilled professional in marketing, PR, and membership development and recruitment at a wide variety of third sector and educational organisations, including Royal Voluntary Service, Hereford College of Arts, Royal National College for the Blind, and Halo Leisure. As well as my work for FTWW, I volunteer for the organisation, and have diverse volunteering experience in sports and the community. I am committed to making a difference and empowering others to do so, and – having recently completed the Equal Power Equal Voice scheme - would like to become a WCVA board member to help make a difference across Wales.